A homeowner with her new Infinity Touch control and MyInfinity app

Three New Smart Thermostats

If you have a homeowner who likes gadgets, the Infinity Touch Control is the best "smart" thermostat on the market. However, Sigler Wholesale Distributors also stocks three other "smart" thermostats which can be installed on any furnace...

Carrier's Comfort Series thermostat features a color display which can show local weather, maintenance reminders and indoor temperature/humidity. The intuitive phone or tablet app provides remote access while the website login offers detailed reports, system data and runtime information.

Carrier TC-WHS01 - $154

Also known as the "Lyric," this is Honeywell's reinvention of the 60-year old round thermostat. It offers fine-tuned temperature and humidity control from anywhere with a phone or tablet. However, with geofencing, that may not be necessary. The Lyric thermostat will automatically adjust based on your smartphone's location. So, you get comfort when you're home and savings when you're away.

Honeywell TH8732WF5018 - $247

For your cost conscious consumers who want remote access, Pro1 has the solution. It's a deluxe thermostat with an easy to use phone or tablet app. Plus, it's a simple upgrade for any existing Pro1 homeowner as the back-plate is the same as what's on the wall today.

Pro1 T855i - $100

Technical Tips

Q: How much bug-juice is in this thing?

So you call in for support, and the guy on the other side of the line asks the question – “How much refrigerant did you, or the guy before you put in the system?” If the answer is “I’m not sure”, expect a raspberry from the support guy. If it’s an unknown charge with a refrigerant system related issue, the best process is to get to a place where the charge is known. Sure, it sounds easy from this arm-chair, but it’s the reality. Eliminate one known factor which may be causing your problems.

A “bit here”, a “squirt there”, or “it’s good” doesn’t do it, or explain why you are on the job. Charge is one of the easiest things to confirm with a reliable scale and patience. For those of you that do start-up on splits, buy your install guys a couple Sharpies. Ask them to write inside the control panel how much refrigerant they added and how long the line-set is. For those that do install, make sure you have a Sharpie and an accurate scale.

Writing “Factory charge” and “Additional charge” inside the control panel also negates the potential for questions down the line when the nameplate info has faded. Pay it forward since you might be the next guy wondering!
